Learning Objectives:

This workshop will focus on Occupational Safety and Health Regulations. Participants will learn the “competent person” duties as defined by OSHA, and how to respond to an OSHA inspection. The confined space entry requirements will also be discussed. Participants will learn how to set up a confined space entry program and how to identify confined spaces and their hazards.

Who Should Attend:

This program is designed for any state or local personnel who are responsible for job safety supervision or individuals who may have to supervise maintenance and construction operations in confined spaces or excavations. Highway Superintendents, Road Foremen, Crew Leaders, and Directors of Public Works are encouraged to attend.

Instructor:

John Able is an Occupational Safety Training Specialist with Connecticut OSHA and is responsible for all CONN-OSHA training activities. Mr. Able has been with Connecticut OSHA for 13 years and has done more than 700 safety consultation visits. He has a Bachelors of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering from UCONN and has been in the safety and environmental consulting field for 20 years. As a safety consultant, he assisted employers with accident and injury prevention measures, regulatory guidance, and other safety and health program related issues.
